MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF MENTAL HEALTH

DIVISION OF DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES

Eligibility for the Division of Developmental Disabilities is determined by a comprehensive evaluation. A developmental disability is a long term condition that significantly delays or limits mental or physical development and substantially interferes with such life activities as self-care, communication, learning, decision making, capacity for independent living, and mobility. A Comprehensive Evaluation Medical, psychological, educational and other records are reviewed for evidence of a developmental disability. Each individual is evaluated to provide information about the individual's functioning, strengths, and needs related to his or her disability. The information gathered is examined to see if there is a developmental disability which: significantly delays or limits mental or physical development, interferes with basic life activities, reflects a need for one or more specialized habilitative services, is likely to continue indefinitely, and which is attributable to intellectual disability, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, head injury, autism, a learning disability related to brain dysfunction, or any other mental or physical impairment which occurs before the age of 22, How and where to apply for services: You may apply for services or refer someone for services by calling, writing, or going to the regional office that services your county. You may contact your county agency to gather information and schedule an intake to determine eligibility for services. Local Tri-County agencies contact information is listed on the left on this page.

Spotlight on Success

Moving Ahead

My name is Kyle Klein. I am 26 year old , I am a college graduate and I live in Eldon, Mo.

Kyle Klein has had some great success in the last couple of years.

Kyle began by taking a job at Dollar General in Eldon about a year and a half ago. He works as a cashier for about 20 hours per week. The job is challenging for him but he enjoys working there and working with his coworkers. He is a reliable employee and often fills in for absent staff.

The first of this year Kyle left the nest and moved to his own apartment after living with his grandparents for most of his life. He uses Skillset to assist him with home chores, laundry and cooking activities. His grandparents give him rides to work and his coworkers take him home in the evenings. Kyle is excited to be living more independently.

Kyle is considering using a bike for work as the weather warms up and is looking forward to acquiring his driver's license in the future so he can be even more independent.

Kyle budgets his money and pays his bills with the assistance of Skillset staff and is currently saving money in order to buy a computer.

Kyle enjoys computer games, fantasy games, dressing up as characters and playing video games.

Kyle is a long term client of the Miller County Board for Services for the Developmentally Disabled.

Kyle loves to talk, so stop in and say hi to Kyle at Dollar General in Eldon. He'll be the handsome guy with the red hair and beard.
